Sarah McGraynor is an insolvency senior with over five years' restructuring and advisory experience including official and voluntary liquidations and large portfolio receiverships.

Sarah has extensive insolvency experience which includes sale of real estate assets, restructuring of trading companies, the management and co-ordination of the sale of high value distressed financial instruments and regulatory compliance.

Prior to joining FFP, Sarah was based on client site in an Irish 'Pillar' Bank as part of a Strategy and Implementation team on a large deleveraging project involving the bank's non-performing loans. This role involved project management, stakeholder engagement and strategic planning incorporating risk management, regulatory compliance and policy review to produce high standard deliverables and realistic outcomes for the client.

Sarah previously also worked with Grant Thornton Ireland in the financial services advisory department advising on the insolvency of a wide variety of companies encompassing a diverse range of assets and distressed loans for various financial institutions. She gained extensive experience working on a variety of portfolios including residential and commercial property, trading assets and development land assets and was regularly involved with assessing alternative strategic options for companies, enhancing values and devising effective solutions for distressed assets.

Sarah joined the FFP team in early 2019 and her broad range of experience gained prior to her offshore move places her well to deliver the fiduciary, restructuring and insolvency services provided by FFP.

Sarah is a member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants in Ireland, the Restructuring and Insolvency Specialists Association in the Cayman Islands and the Cayman Islands Society of Professional Accountants.
